in this city as a pawnbroker.

It has been stated that Senor Zamora died from an active poison administered by a woman while he was being taken to Queretaro in a carriage, and this theory is suported by the fact that the physician who had been summoned to Puerto de Nieton from San Miguel Allende, was met on the way to the farm by a special messenger, who had instructions to countermand the summons, while Zamora was being taken to Queretaro, where his death was reported to the authorities and where he arrived in a complete state of decomposition after a few hours.
